Statement of the problem: The project requires an efficient Recruitment system to select the candidate for the organization based on aptitude test, Interview. It generates results for the test taken up by the candidates and reports to view the systems usage by the graduates and the employers in the recruitment process on a periodical basis. Access rights are allocated in following order. The administrator is given rights only to add or delete Candidate profiles. provide information about company and job conformation and publish results for aptitude test. But has no right to access the recruiting information. Organization or HR Department is given rights to access the recruiting information and if needed, make changes to it. They can also access the report database to view the number of applied and selected graduates for all the designations with the details in brief. All the reports and queries are at your disposal. Candidates are the end users of the system. They login to the recruiting session and attend the aptitude test. The candidates cannot access any of the databases including the questions, report or the profile database. The candidates can view their results through this system. Each Candidate is given a username and password to ensure security. The aptitude test in the recruitment system is basically objective questions. The session is fixed for each candidate and the questions carry a time limit within which the candidates are supposed to answer the questions. Otherwise, the question lapses and no points are awarded for that question. The student has the ability to pass the question and answer the question later within the remaining time left.

- The design allows researchers to sharpen the research methods suitable for the subject matter and set up their studies for success.

4. DATA ANALYSIS & INTERPRETATION

Percentage analysis: A percentage analysis is used to interpret data by the researcher for the analysis and interpretation through the use of percentage. The data are reduced in the standard form from which base equal to 100 which fact facility relative comparison.

TABLE 1. Gender of the employees

PERCENTAGE	RESPONDENT	PERCENTAGE
Female	31	42.16%
Male	40	57.83%
Total	71	100

The above pie chart depicts that 57.83 % of the respondents are Male and 42.16% of the respondents are Female Thus the majority of the respondents are Male.

TABLE 2. Age of the employees

PARTICULAR	RESPONDENT	PERCENTAGE
a) 20-30	62	87.32394366
b) 30-40	7	9.85915493
c) 40-50	2	2.816901408
Total	71	100

The above chart shows that out of 80 responses 85% are the age 20-30 i.e., 62employees and 10% are the age of 30-40 i.e., 15 employees and 0.1% are the age of 40-50, 8 employees.

One-way ANOVA: Analysis of variance (ANOVA) tests the hypothesis that the means of two or more populations are equal. ANOVA assess the importance of one or more factors by comparing the response variable means at the different factor levels. The null hypothesis states that all population means are equal while the alternative hypothesis states that at least one is different. To perform an ANOVA, must have a continuous response variable and at least one categorical factor with two or more levels. ANOVA require data from approximately normally distributed populations with equal variances between factor levels. Null Hypothesis: There is a no significant difference between effectiveness of the topic and results of CUDBAS. Alternate Hypothesis: There is a significant difference between effectiveness of the topic and results of CUDBAS The Table shows that the relationship between the Effectiveness of the CUDBAS and the Results of the CUDBAS.

TABLE 3. ANOVA single factor

Groups	Count	Sum	Average	Variance
--------	-------	-----	---------	----------

2. What is your age group?	70	78	1.114286	0.131677
3. Which area of work you belong to?	70	174	2.485714	1.238923
Source of Variation	SS	df	MS	F	P-value	Fcrit □
Between Groups	65.82857	1	65.82857	96.05801	1.54E-17	3.909729 □
Within Groups	94.57143	138	0.6853
Total	160.4	139				□

P value is more than 0.05. Hence it is Null Hypothesis.
